★ Print your Washington State Food Worker Card at home after you pass. ★

- Getting a food worker card online takes about 60 minutes.
- The online class is available in a variety of languages: English, Spanish, Korean, Vietnamese, Cambodian, Mandarin, Cantonese, Russian, and closed caption.
- For those who do not have internet access, the Department has computer kiosks available Monday through Thursday, 7:30 am - 4:00 pm. No appointment necessary.
- The cost of the online training, exam, and card is $10.00; the same as if someone takes the training at the Department.

Visit <http://www.foodworkercard.wa.gov> or call (509)427-3900 for more information.

* Be wary of unauthorized online food worker training programs *

The only site approved for online food worker testing in the State of Washington is:

www.foodworkercard.wa.gov

When searching online other food worker testing sites such as "efoodhandlers.com" and "wafoodhandlers.com" will come up. Exam results will not be accepted from these or any other food worker testing site.

Who Needs a Food Worker Card?

If you work in a food service establishment you are required to have a valid food worker card. This includes cashiers, bussers, baggers, stockers, dishwashers, as well as volunteers who work in food banks, service groups, or school concessions. Temporary food booths are required to have at least one person in charge with a card at all time during operation.

Where the cards are good?

All Washington State Food Worker Cards are good anywhere in Washington State.

How Soon is a Card Needed?

All food service workers must obtain a food worker card within 14 calendar days from the beginning of employment at a food service establishment.

How long are the cards good for?

New Food Worker Cards: Good for 2 years

Expired Card Renewal: Good for 2 years

Current Card Renewal: Good for 3 years (proof of current card required)
